IN MILITARY STYLE.
How Brooklyn Letter Carriers Must Hereafter Salute Their Chief.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 12.—After this all letter carriers in the Brooklyn post-office will have to salute in true military style the Postmaster and his assistants when any of them are met on the street. The Postmaster, in explaining the new regulation, said: "It will be beneficial to the men and their superiors to adopt the military salute. After a man brings his hand to his hat in another way, he doesn't deem it masculine for a man to lift his hat to another man, and have met carriers and turned his head around awkward. Some would smile, others bow, and others try to avoid me. The new rule will make the salute a military salute. I will bring mine to my hat rim. There need be no smiles, smiles are unnecessary, that is necessary. The order only applies to the street. I think the rule will tend to lend dignity to all concerned."

Officer Delaner Picks Out the Wrong Man and Testifies Against Him.

"You are charged with being drunk in the streets, Robert Fields. How do you plead?" said Clerk John McEnnis of the First District Police Court to a tall, dazed-looking German.
"I guess I'm the other man," I'm German, I wasn't drunk," came the response in a strong Teutonic accent.
But the case went on just the same and Officer Delaner said he arrested the prisoner on seventh and Valentine streets, while the defendant threw up his hands in horror, exclaiming: "I was arrested on Second street; my name is Gottlieb Rabe, not Robert Fields."
Gottlieb grew so excited Judge Peabody thought he must have been very drunk and escorted back to the cage.

Settlement by Arbitration. NEW YORK, May 12.—The differences between the marble workers' unions and the Marble Workers' Association, which has been pending for some time, was settled by arbitration.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The differences between the marble workers' unions and the Marble Workers' Association, which has been pending for some time, was settled by arbitration.

"I was a good deal impressed," he said, "at the sense of the work of the committee which came to give the side of the trouble. I believe a great deal has been done to clear up the misunderstanding. All this might be avoided in many cases if the parties came together and discussed the matter in dispute without prejudice before a third party who had no bias. Do you believe the sentiment in favor of arbitration is growing?" asked the reporter.

"Undoubtedly both sides are realizing the great waste of time and money entered by strikes. I think there will be fewer strikes in the future, and that the workmen have learned a good deal by the strikes of the past. The employers also have learned a good deal. The settling of labor disputes by arbitration is sure to bring employers and employees into more cordial relations."

SUED BY HER DRESSMAKER.

Mrs. Leon Hull Wouldn't Pay for Her Gowns.

Either Mrs. Leon L. Hull, wife of the well-known real estate agent, is hard to please in the fit of a dress or S. Goldstein, formerly the well-known ladies' tailor, at 622 Olive street, but now a man milliner, was unsuccessful in his attempt to create a couple of Parisian garments for Mrs. Hull. Judge Valliant saw a jury wrestled with the problem all Monday.

Some time in 1992 Mrs. Hull gave Goldstein an order for a tailor-made suit and for the tailor-made dress. The suit was delivered and Mrs. Hull had refused to pay for them for reasons, she explained to the court. Mr. Goldstein filed suit for $44.15 in Justice Carroll's court, securing judgment by default. An appeal was taken.

For the tailor-made dress $20 and for the suit $24.15. The judge charged, with additions of 10 cents for two pieces on whalebone, 25 cents for skirt braid, 50 cents for a week's wear of the silk coat, rubber. Mrs. Hull is admitted to have furnished all the other material and to have stand declared that she had also furnished everything charged for in the bill, save the silk and labor. The dressmaker suit footed up $22.50, including $4 for work, $5 for "findings," $2.15 for lace and $1.50 for silk ruffe.

When those dresses came home," said Mrs. Hull to the jury and Mr. E. A. B. Garsche, her lawyer, "they were utterly ruined, could not do a thing with them, and was the more put out as I had intended them for my trip to Europe, upon which I was to start within a week. The silk coat cost me $25. It was a very handsome piece. Besides, he had charged me for stuff that I had furnished myself, and I don't believe put all the lace on the dress that I gave him."

Court adjourned for dinner before Attorney L. A. Steber could present Mr. Goldstein's case. Mrs. Hull has a $75 counter claim for the material she claims was spoiled.

ARTHUR DUESTROW'S MONEY.

He Will Probably Be Allowed to Handle It Himself.

Treasurer Cornelius Tompkins was asked on Monday whether the Union Trust Co. would now honor the checks of Arthur Duestrow, in view of the verdict of the jury at Union declaring him sane. Mr. Tompkins said: "I have not yet submitted the question to our counsel, Mr. Blair. Our President, Judge Madill, is also a judge of the case. I shall probably submit it to him first. I presume that Duestrow will now be allowed to handle his own money like anybody else, it is his money. We only withheld it because we thought he was insane, and we wanted to protect ourselves. I thought him crazy, although I haven't fault to find with the verdict of the jury."

LITTLE HOPE OF PATCHING.

Commissioner Holman Not Disturbed by Compton Reservoir Leaks.

Water Commissioner Holman thinks there is no cause for fear of the leaks in the Compton Hill reservoir. He does not agree with Mr. Buell, a Grand avenue resident, who says that 150,000 gallons escape daily from the basin.

When asked how the leaks could be mended, Mr. Holman said it could be done by letting out all the water in one basin, and leaving very little in the other, so that the dividing wall would not be broken by unequal pressure. Mr. Holman says this method would require an entire summer and plenty of money.

The Commissioner has a theory that the holes in the basin are the work of the bugs and insects attracted by the trees and shrubbery of Reservoir Park.

"A park was made around the reservoir a few years before I took office," said Mr. Holman. "The bugs follow the roots and the roots penetrate the embankment. I will have the bushes and trees within forty feet of the embankment removed."

Mr. Holman does not hold out hopes of an early patching at the reservoir.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

Rumors That Work on a Grand Scale Is Soon to Be Resumed.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.
COLON, Colombia, May 4.—There is a rumor that the Panama Canal Co. will resume operations next month on a grand scale, but as the policy of the canal people is rigid economy, and as there is demand all around for laborers to whom liberal offers are made, it does not seem likely that much work will be done on the canal. West Indies or India. There are 87 laborers all told on the canal. Hundreds are needed, but will refuse to work for what is offered. The company pays 90 cents a day apiece to 600 of these, the remaining 87 earning from 50 cents to $2.40 at job work, such as filling, etc. There are five excavators at work with seven others in the hands of mechanics, getting ready for service. The latter fact gives color to the rumor mentioned above. Now and then the bureau personnel is increased by arrivals from Paris, tending to restore that confidence which everybody on the isthmus had lost in the enterprise. The canal authorities by ministers of the gospel, the workmen at Culebra are still paid off on Sundays. As the employees get rid of their money at gambling tables a few minutes after receiving it, and as gambling leads to quarrels and fights, Sunday pay is a means of social degradation. A row occurred at the pay-table last Sunday, and could have been easily avoided disastrously but for the timely intervention of the military.

"YOU'RE TO LIKE THE DEVIL."

Capt. Foo Sing Will Lead a Salvation Army Tropic Column.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 12.—Another army is about to invade China, but the campaign will be conducted on different lines from that of the Japanese. The Salvation Army is going to try to conquer the Orient by bringing the millions of Chinese into the field of Christianity. The leader of the movement is Foo Sing, a young Chinese who is a member of the Salvation Army in this city, and who is believed to have been in the office of the War Cry. He said to a reporter: "I expect that the army at the proper time will march to China to bring the good news to the Chinese people. I believe, has made China open her eyes. As a result, the way will be opened for Christianity, civilization and other good things." Capt. Foo Sing speaks fluently in English, but uses some expressions that are peculiar. Following is a note he wrote for the reporter: "I fully believe that when we have a Chinese work started in a proper way, the Chinese people will rally around us and fight beneath our colors to bring China to Christ."

THE WHISKY TRUST.

Much Depends on the Outcome of Quo-Warranto Proceedings.

PEORIA, Ill., May 13.—A gentleman prominently identified with the distilling industry, and on friendly terms with Receiver McNulta, says the decision in the quo-warranto proceedings by the Supreme Court in the quo warranto case, and should it be decided that the Distilling and Cattle Feeding Co. is not a legal corporation, it would be a blow to the distillers whom the distillers belong to. They might be claimed by the receiver, and the property would be paid in full outright for the houses, while the land was leased to the company. In such emergency, the receiver would be appointed. Samuel Wooler, Jr., Vice-President of the Independent Distillers' Association, said: "Nobody can take forcible possession of the warehouses, because they are virtually the property of the Government. Powers of attorney have been given. McNulta to take the goods out, and the only privilege he cannot have is that of shipping them in bond. The Atlas is now selling spirits at $1.25 per gallon, while Gen. McNulta's price is $1.25."

Dr. John Hall, European editor of the Christian, of New York; W. H. Landon and W. J. Beecher. The two have positively declined to be candidates. In his declining the prospect of being Moderator, Mr. Beecher also declined to be associated in any way with the question of the Presbyterian Church for several years. Dr. Booth has been prominent in connection with the Briggs and Union churches, formerly of Portland, Ore., would receive the support of many in the West, who are in the habit of saying that he is a living far removed from the strifes of recent years.

AMBITIOUS WOMEN

MAKE HEROES OF MEN.

She Will Brave Anything for the Man She Loves.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

When an ambitious woman loves a man she will spur him to heroic efforts. She will dare with him the rigors of the frozen North, and encourage him in daring dangers almost unsurmountable.

Women are by nature ambitious according to their physical and mental strength. Hope and ambition come with perfect health, but vanish before sickness and despair.

American women are, unfortunately, particularly subject to those painful female diseases that are the cause of so much hopelessness and misery. Could all women realize the undeniable fact that they suffer unnecessarily, how much brighter life would be.

Lydia E. Pinkham devoted her life to the study of female diseases and their cause; and she discovered in the Vegetable Compound an absolute remedy. It succeeds in removing the cause of the trouble.

Women who rely more upon their own natural common-sense, rather than on the theories of their physicians, write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and are soon restored to health.

Here is a living example: "Four months ago I was unable to stand on my feet. I had falling of the womb, kidney trouble, and inflammation of the bladder; the backache and bearing-down pains were dreadful. My physician could give me no relief. A friend said to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Well, I did. Oh, if every suffering woman would do the same, they would be cured, cured absolutely and entirely, as I am!" Mrs. Wm. M. MOREY, 20 Seymour St., Pittsfield, Mass.
